Mr. Hayward will leave for Deming this evening.

Lady Baltimore Cake

The Most Popular Cake This Season
By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

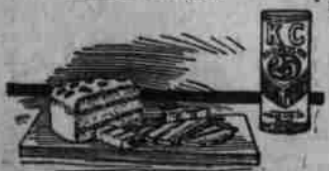

This is considered by many cooking authorities the finest cake that can be made, though in reality it is not at all difficult.

K C Lady Baltimore Cake

One cup butter; 2 cups granulated sugar; 1 cup milk; 1 teaspoonful rose water; 3/4 cup flour; 1 level teaspoonful K C Baking Powder; whites of 6 eggs, beaten dry.

Cream the butter and beat in the sugar gradually. Sift together, three times, the flour and baking powder, and add to the butter and sugar, alternately with the milk and rose water. Lastly, add the egg whites. Bake in three-layer cake pans. Put the layers together with the following frosting.

Note—The cake is a large one and sells at Women's Exchanges for $1.25.

Frosting for Lady Baltimore Cake

Three cups granulated sugar; 1 cup boiling water; whites of 3 eggs; 1 cup chopped raisins; 1 cup chopped nut-meats; 5 lbs cut in thin slices.

Stir the sugar and water until the sugar is dissolved, then let boil without stirring until the syrup from a spoon will spin a long thread; pour upon the whites of the eggs, beaten dry, beating constantly meanwhile. Continue the beating until the frosting is cold; add the fruit and spread upon the cake.

The K C Cook's Book contains fifty just such delicious recipes—bread, muffins, cakes and pastry. You can secure a copy free by sending the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the Jacobs Bros. Co., Chicago. Small cans do not contain Cook's Book certificates.

William L. Hoskins, son of D. T. Hoskins, returned last night from Champaign, Ill., where he has been attending the state university of Illinois for the past year. He will spend the summer in this city.

MOVIE PICTURES OF THE BIG PICNIC

AUTO PARADE, FROM ALL COUNTIES, WILL BE OVER A MILE LONG

The line of automobiles that will start Friday morning from the Normal university, carrying the students of the summer school to the picnic at the Hot Springs, will be over a mile long, according to the present indications.

This estimate is based on the fact that there will be over 100 machines, and as each is required to keep a certain distance from the car in front in the parade, the line will be easily over a mile in length. The approximate distance that the machines would cover in a straight line would be nearly 12 Las Vegas blocks.

The general arrangements for the picnic are meeting with eminent success, according to those in charge, and the Commercial club is determined that the affair shall be the biggest thing of its kind ever attempted here.

Through P. H. LeNoir the Commercial club yesterday evening wired the Pathe Weekly, the Mutual Weekly and the Animated Weekly motion picture companies, informing them of the big event and it is expected that one or more camera men will be in the city next Friday to catch the big parade and picnic.

MORE NEW STUNTS OF KATHLYN TONIGHT

LOCAL THEATERS RECEIVE REELS OF ADVENTURE PICTURES THAT ALWAYS THRILL

The Photoplay and the Browne, moving picture theaters that have been entertaining large houses for months with the thrilling adventures of the charming Kathlyn, announce the receipt of another installment of the picture story, in which the fun goes on with no abatement of interest and plot.

Fast following the death of the king of Alah, Prince Umballah, de-throned by the revolution, manages to reinstate himself and orders Kathlyn and her father brought to the palace in order that one of them may be made the reigning sovereign. Two parchment conferring heirship to the throne to Colonel Hare and his family are now in the hands of the supreme tribunal, one of which has been proved a forgery. This has been cancelled by the late king, and consequently the genuine parchment is still in force. The throne is offered to Colonel Hare, but he emphatically refuses to accept and is arrested. Thereupon, the unwelcome honor is proffered to Kathlyn as next in succession. She, seeing a way to release her father and revenge herself and family upon Umballah, instantly accepts and is crowned queen. The first thing she does upon ascending the throne is to order the release of her father.

A girl of the harem, who witnessed the murder of the king through the treachery of Umballah, appears and tells her story. Thereupon, Kathlyn and the supreme tribunal order the arrest of Umballah. He is ignominiously stripped of his rank and is sentenced to serve for life upon the prison treadmill. The high priest has discovered the will of the king, which is brought to the throne room and read. It bequeaths a vast fortune in gold sovereigns buried on Volcano island to Kathlyn. She prefers her liberty rather than the empty honors of Alah, and offers to get and give the gold, distribute it to the poor if the supreme tribunal will release her and her family from heirship to the throne. This they agree to do. A crafty creature of Umballah manages to inform him of these doings, and in turn gets in touch with a faithful slave who, by generous bribery of the guards, soon accomplishes Umballah's escape. The latter, securing his liberty, deftly and quickly disguises himself in the garb of a holy man, and preys upon the credulity of the simple sea side folk, so that he gets their services and a boat, and makes a hurried trip to Volcano Island. The day following, Kathlyn, Bruce, her father Ramabai and Pundita, secure swift mounts and ride toward the sea, proposing to voyage to the treasure trove. The ever crafty Umballah, knowing of their route and intentions, treacherously weakens the cables of the swinging bridge over a deep chasm, assuring that they will be precipitated into its depths. A wandering lion, however, ventures upon the bridge before they do, goes through and shows the filmy character of its construction, and the evil sign of Umballah's mischief.

Second Reel

Bruce, at once busy and undeterred, soon has the bridge repaired; they resume their mounts and go forward toward the seashore. Kathlyn, ever on the alert, saves the life of the chief boatman's child by picking up the infant as a leopard is about to attack it, and killing the hungry beast by a single well directed shot from her revolver. Bruce also has the good fortune to save the life of the boatman himself, who has stumbled into a leopard trap. The gratitude of the man is so great that he offers Kathlyn's party all the boats at his disposal to help them make the voyage to Volcano island.

The scene shifts to this desolate but adventurous spot, showing Umballah and his followers locating the cave where the treasure is concealed. Subsequently, when the bags of gold are brought to light the leader of the sailors asks at once for a division of it. Umballah quells this mutiny in swift and decisive fashion by plunging a knife into the malcontent and leaves him for dead, as they, by his direction, hurry back to the boats with the treasure. As these events are transpiring Kathlyn and her party reach the island and begin a search for the cave. Then there is a tremendous hush—the earth trembles, the slumbering volcano belches forth fire, lava and rock, which compels Kathlyn and her party to run to shelter under an overhanging cliff, while tons of hot lava fall all about them as they crouch in the shadow of the rock, beyond harm's way.

BOY VANDALS AT WORK

Chief of Police Ben Coles has been informed that a number of young boys in the city, ranging in ages from 14 to 16 years, have made a practice of breaking into empty houses during the past few months and have taken from them electric lights, wires and other apparatus that is used in this connection.

The complaint is made that over 15 houses have been entered by these boys and the chief stated this afternoon that he feels certain as to who the offenders are.

GREAT FILMS FOR PARADE AND PICNIC

STUDENT LIFE OF NORMAL TO BE SHOWN AT PANAMERICAN EXPOSITION

Under the direction of Colonel R. E. Twitchell, motion pictures for the education and scenic exhibits of the New Mexico building at the Panama-California exposition and for scenario purposes will be taken in this city beginning next Friday when the big picnic for the students of the New Mexico Normal University, given by the Commercial club, is to take place. Colonel Twitchell announced this afternoon that the motion picture operator who will take these pictures is an experienced man in his line and that no limit will be placed on the amount of scenery and other matter filmed. He also stated that the big parade and the picnic later in the Gallinas canyon will be used as special features in a scenario that is being staged for the exposition. This scenario deals with the life of the student. Miss May Ross of the dramatic department of the Normal University, is preparing it and the first scenes will be taken next Friday.

SEVENTY CLUBS COMPETE

Chicago, June 15.—Nearly 70 golf clubs have entered the competition for the Tom Morris memorial cup, to be played tomorrow. The event was won last year by the Los Angeles Country club, Norman MacBeth of that club having the best individual score—four up. The event is open to all club members of the Western Golf association, each entering team of eight playing 18 holes over its own links, against the special par of its course.

PRIMARY DAY IN MAINE

Portland, Me., June 15.—The republican, democratic and socialist voters of Maine went to the polls today to express their preferences in the primaries for state and congressional officers. The progressives and prohibitionists made their selections in convention, Governor Haines, republican, and the four representatives in congress, including three republicans and one democrat, had no opposition for renomination. The election will be held in September.
